NOW PRINCIPPERS IS MADE. Mr. John Stuart, of Iowa, has taken the first prize at many of the most prominent dairyexhibitions of late years In a late pamphlet he sets forth his practices. He first prescribes for the cow a warm dry stable, with plenty of ground core, cate and harley, mixed with equal portions of each, to make plenty of rich milk. He does not approve of oilcake or turnips, and says they must have plenty of good hay and water.

The milk pails, he declares, must be made of tip, and be scorps the idea of the wooden pail. They should be thoroughly scalded before using, and the receiving can set in cool water when filled with the warm milk.

Churning should be done every day, if possible. Cream should not be kept longer that forty eight hours. $It should be a little acid. Churn the cream at a temperature of 58 to 60 dedegrees in summer, and from 62 to 65 degrees in winter. Do not churn too quickly. Draw of the buttermilk before the butter forms in mass, and wash it with either clear cold water or, better yet, with brine, until the water runs off clear. Then gather and work it. Work about one ounce of salt to the pound through the butter thoroughly. Set it away for twenty four hours, then work all the milk out, and occasionally dash cold water over it as you work it. Don't work it too much," he says, emphatically. Do not pack in crocks, but get the best quality of tubs. Soak them in brine twenty four hours before using. Pack closely to sides and bottom. Fill the tube level full, neither dished nor rounding. Put a clean bleached mustin cloth saturated with brine over the top, and a layer of salt over this. Put on the cover, fastened with three strips of tin, and the butter is ready for market at from five to fifteen cents above goods made HOMES In the best location is the V/cst. Lands seld on loss time and at the time has come when dairymen must the time has come when dairymen must the time has come when dairymen must make fine butter or go out of the business. Oleomagarine, he says, has usurped the lower grades of the market and he seems to think it is a better article of food than poor butter. Do not hold your butter; send it to market while it is fresh in flavor.

Farmer's sons are not apt to suppose that they can only attain to any coveted position in life though the avenue of some trade or profession. They look about and find the wealthy men nearly all belonging to these classes. They do not stop to consider that only the wealthy ones come to view; that for every one of these who has acquired wealth or distinction, ninety-nine others have failed and disappeared, or have never risen to notice at all. They set on the belief that they are the only persons that can be called into public life, ignoring the fact that it is the training they get that consti. tutes the difference, rather than the calling. A tarmer of equal learning and culthre with the lawyer would, we believe, find bimself in just as good requests, with perhaps many chances in his favor. It the farmes allows the professional man to monopolize all the advantges at the start, he must expect to find himself at a disadvantage all the way through.

Many persons declare that they have no luck with bees. They provide good hives for them, and keep them in a dry cellar during the winter. Still they do not do well. They store little honey, often not enough for their own wants. These persons seem to forget that bees do not create honey. They simply gather it. The bee keeper must supply the honey or PHOTOGRAPHER take advantage of that furnished by forest trees, wild plants or those which are cultivated by his neighbors for other purposes. The willow, finden, and crab apple turnish considerable honey, but it is doubtful is it pays to set out these trees for the honey their blossoms secrete. If they abound in any locality their presence is favorable to bee keeping. Bee keeping is generally profitable in any region where dairying is a leading business BLACK DRESS SILKS for the reason that dairy farmers commonly keep a large portion of their pastures seed ad with white clover, which, all things considered, is the best honey pro-ducing plant. The honey furnished by Just Received white clover blossoms is of a light color, fine flavor and a delightful aroma. The plant is in blossom a longer time than almost any other. The aslike, or Sweedish clover, ranks next to it as a honey producing plant.

There is as much room for the exercise of judgement in sorting trees as in selecting animals. In cutting fuel, a good observer can tell at a glance the tacer that will, if let slone, be of some profit one day for something besides fire wood. A little care in selecting trees for fael, FACTORY POINT, - - VERMONT. will work much profit to the farmer in these days when forests are growing more valuable every year.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY over disovered, as it is certain in its effects and does on blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From COL. L. T. FOSTER.

Youngelown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880. Toungstown, Ohio, May 19th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambietenian colt which I priced very highly, he had a large bons spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him and a small one on the other which made him are very large. I had him under the charge of two Veterinary Surgeons which failed to cure him I was one day reading the advertisement of Kus lattice. Stavin Cuar is the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our Druggists hare to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and by the fourth day the coli ceased to be lame, and the immys had entirely disappeared. I need but one bottle and the colis imps are as free from immps and as smooth as any horse in free from impe and as smooth as any horse jin the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now neing it. Yery Respectfully,

B. J. Ersmall, M. D. Dear Sir. In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendalf's Spavin Cure, one very large one, 6us throw how long the spavin had been there. I have evend the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and twe for the annallers. I have used tun bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its cale will be very great. Respectfully yours. CHAS. E. PARKER.

STATEMENT MADE Under Oath,

To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN .- In the year 1875 I large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he has never been lame, nor could I over see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Cure.
